

Luanda 24th June 2011 — A newspaper "O jardim", which will bring story and proverbs for children, was officially launched on Thursday at Children Book Fair to end this Sunday.

The presentation of the newspaper was made by the coordinator of the Children Book Fair Organizing Commission, António Fonseca and happened during the inauguration of the event.

According to her, the newspaper will be free of charge and 10.000 copies will be published.

In an initiative of the National Institute of Cultural Industry, the publication of this newspaper highlights moment of culture that involves children, jokes, guess, games and hobbies, as well as other attractions for children.

Source: All Africa.com