

- Globally, the female net secondary school attendance rate is 44 per cent.
- About 1 in 3 of countries achieved gender parity in secondary education by 2005.
- 57 % Girls in developing world miss out on secondary education
- About two of three countries and territories worldwide reached gender parity in primary education by the target year of 2005

For more click here